

Based on a public opinion survey, the "LEADER-2024" award in the category of "Investment and Contribution to the Field of International Education in Armenia" is presented to Mr. Rafik Khachatryan, Rector of "Progress" University.

With nearly 35 years of activity, thousands of graduates, and accomplished professionals, "Progress" is one of the first private universities in Armenia, founded in 1990 with a clear vision: there is no greater force than knowledge. As the leading private university in Shirak Marz, "Progress" has made its name a mission, promoting educational and scientific progress not only in Gyumri but throughout the entire region.

Rafik Khachatryan, Doctor of Philosophical Sciences, Professor, and Rector of "Progress" University, has drawn upon thousands of years of philosophical knowledge and a thoughtful approach to teaching organization, leading the university on a unique and unparalleled path. Analytical thinking, the value and applicability of knowledge—these are the foundation stones upon which the university stands. The university currently has faculties of Economics, Law, and Humanities, each distinguished by innovative educational and scientific models and approaches.

The university is not only rich in educational life but also in scientific activity. Young specialists successfully defend their theses, mentor students, and contribute their expertise to the development of the university. Additionally, the university offers programs in "Medical" and "Dentistry." Here's a corrected version of the sentence:

"Progress High School and College are distinguished by their advanced study of technologies, languages, and science subjects. Renowned scientists from Artasahman are also expected to be important guests at the university.

'Progress' is the era of knowledge-based advancement."
